

The Adventures of Mary Sue by hafedor
Chapter 2

As both Allura, and Lotor, laid in the mud. Mary Sue, again, tried to order Lotor to leave Arus.

“Oh come know my dear.”, said Lotor, “We both know that you don’t really want me to go.”

“The lady asked you to leave!”, a voice commanded. It was Keith holding his laser pistol at the evil prince.

“Keith!”, shout Allura, “Thank God you’ve arrived!”

“Yea, whatever.”, said Keith, “Mary Sue, are you all right?”

“Yes, I can take care of myself.”, she replied.

“Look.”, said Lotor as he got up, “I promise to leave the princess alone. My heart know belongs to someone else.” He then looked towards Mary Sue, smiled, and winked.

“Forget it Lotor!”, said Keith as he stood between them, “She deserves someone better than you!”

“And who might that be captain, you!”, said Lotor with a sarcastic laugh, “Don’t be ridiculous, what could she possibly see in you? You have a mullet!”

“Well, you’re an asshole!”, shouted Keith.

“How dare you speak to someone of royal blood in that manner.”

“Hello!”, said Princess Allura, “I’m still in the mud.”

“God you’re a narcissist!”, said Lotor and Keith, to Allura, in unison.

“Look!”, said Mary Sue, “This is all flattering, but my heart belongs to someone else.”

“Who?”, asked Keith.

“His name was Gary Stu.”, she replied, “ We grew up in the orphanage together back on Earth. Ironically my parents were killed, when I was just a baby, by saving the children of that orphanage when it caught fire. The orphanage thought the least they could do was take me in. Over time, Gary Stu and I fell in love. When we were eighteen, we decided to get married. On the night we were supposed to get married, another fire broke out. The both of us got all of the children out, but Gary Stu went back in to get their teddy bears. He was successful, but sadly he didn't make it. I loved him so much, there can never be someone else.

"Oh brother.", said Allura, "Give me a break."

"Look, I can change.", said Lotor, "You'll see. Farewell my beloved Mary Sue. I will be returning for you shortly." He then bowed, kissed her hand, and left.

"Are you all right, Mary Sue?", asked Keith.

"I'm fine.", she replied, "He doesn't frighten me."

"Allura?", began Keith, "Why are you lying in the mud?"

"Oh no reason.", she replied sarcastically, "Just hanging out."

"Well.", said Keith, "We should all probably get back to the castle."

After returning, Allura headed for her family's underground crypt. She knelt before her father's coffin, and begged to speak to him.

"What is it my daughter?", asked the spirit of the dead king.

"Oh father.", began Allura, "I don't know what to do. I feel as if everyone who had ever loved me now loves someone else. I don't want to be jealous. She is a wonderful person, but I can't help it. Please help me, father. I need to know I'm still loved, and still needed by my people."

"Allura, you are as kind and strong as you are lovely. You should know that no one could ever...", he began, "Well, hello there. And who might you be?" Allura who was surprised by her father's response, turned her head, and saw Mary Sue standing behind her.

"Oh god!", cried Allura as she put her hand over her face.

"I'm King Alfor.", said her father's spirit.

"I'm Mary Sue.", she replied. "I'm the new pilot of black lion."

"Father!", cried Allura, "Are you hitting on her? I can't believe this, you're married to my mother. Besides, this was the girl I was telling you about."

"Not now!", replied Alfor, "Daddy's busy. God you're a narcissist! Besides my vows were until death do us part. I think it's a little obvious that I'm already past that stage. I may be dead, but I still have all of my equipment."

“Princess!”, cried Mary Sue, “Lotor has returned!”

“He’s never been back this soon.”, replied Allura. The two women headed for the control room.

“Oh Mary Sue!”, cried Alfor, “You’ll know where to find me when you’re done!”